Chrońmy Przyrodę Ojczyść 64 (2): 46–50.

Typhaeus typhoeus was strictly protected by law in Poland before 2004 and it is listed in Polish Red List as near threatened (nt) species. In October 2006 a new locality of this species was found. Several individuals were observed in a mixed forest called “Las Rabin” (52°03’30” N, 16°52’15” E) located in western part of the Wielkopolska region, about 40 km south of Poznań. Probably the population is abundant and most likely stable.
